Costume Society Study Tours Liability Waiver/Code of Conduct

I, the undersigned, in full recognition and appreciation of the dangers and hazards inherent in travel to which I may be exposed during Costume Society Study Tours, do hereby agree to assume all the risks, fiduciary and legal responsibilities surrounding my participation. The Costume Society of America (CSA), its officers, directors, employees and/or agents assume no liability for accidents or injuries occurring on Costume Society Study Tours, or activities and provides no funds to defray medical costs as a result of accident, illness or injury. Individual participation is entirely voluntary and all participants are strongly urged to have their own health and personal/baggage insurance.

The Costume Society of America provides Costume Society Study Tours, for its members and their guests to enhance their curiosity about world costume and culture. Participants will conduct themselves in an appropriate manner that represents the Costume Society of America in a positive light.

I have read the above and acknowledge full understanding and acceptance of its content as a participant.
